27 April 2016 - Raghu Iyer pips Philip Allison to Charity One Ball title, as we raise £100 + for Myeloma UK

Raghu Iyer pipped Philip Allison to the 2016 Charity One Ball Tournament crown, which this year is supporting bone cancer charity Myeloma UK. The pair ended on five wins each from their six games for an 88% winning ratio, but Iyer had the 'head to head win' so took the title on that basis. But the big winner was this year's chosen 'croquet charity' and we have raised £100 so far from the ten players donations and a further £10 from a non-playing doner.

You can add to our collection with your own donation, in either Chris Roberts' pigeon hole or the 'orange' collection jug in the pavilion ~ your contributions will be gratefully recieved.

Iyer and Allison duly qualify for the National Charity One Ball Final at Surbiton on Sunday 8 May.

As Myeloma UK's 'house colour' is orange, all the players were suitably clad throughout and winner Iyer on a Terry's Chocolate Orange!

Final tallies: Raghu Iyer & Philip Allison 5 wins/ 6 games (82%), Joanna Iyer & Robin Morrell & 3/5 and Harry Midgley 2/4 (50%), Chris Roberts & Colin Morgan 2/5 (40%), Mike Fensome, Frances & Helena Fensome 2/6 (33%).
